

ARE YOU READY TO PASS THROUGH THE TRADE BARRIER? SGS SEMINARS (JUN-SEP) – FIND YOUR WAY THROUGH VENDOR COMPLIANCE

The film "Blood Diamond" unveiled the unethical, bloody and brutal reality of diamond trade. In Fact, NGOs have been launching the "no dirty gold" global campaign since 2004 to "produce gold in an ethical way that respects environmental, social, and human rights standards". Meanwhile, new international and local legislations (e.g. U.S. disclosure rules for conflict minerals, SB657, etc) provided guidance for building green supply chain globally.

Not only based on law requirements and ethical guidance, but also compelled by competitors, brands and large companies tend to strengthen their code of conduct (e.g. improving environmental performance, optimizing management system, conduct social and environmental audit) to improve their social images. Suppliers are also required to behave consistently with their code of conduct.

How to balance profits and challenges brought by new legislations and ethical demands to achieve a win-win consequence? From June to September, 2012, SGS Social Responsibility Solutions will hold 6 free seminars in Shenzhen and Shanghai, helping you to roll out social responsibility for your business. We cordially invite you to join us and discuss: ethical trade, hazardous substance process control system, BRC/RILA global standard for consumer products, environment management system and more.
